

FRESH GARLANDS FOR SOLDIER DEAD Veterans Will Strew Flowers Over Their Sleeping Comrades.

TO BEGIN WITH A PARADE Secretary of War Alger Expected to Occupy the Centre of the Reviewing Stand.

MORE HONORS FOR GEN. GRANT.

Battleship Indiana Will Fire a Honorary Salute and Impressive Ceremonies Will Follow.

The beautiful custom of scattering flowers over the graves of the soldier dead is to be followed to-day on perhaps a larger scale than ever. Prior to visiting the cemeteries the veterans will take part in a parade which will include at least 8,500 men under command of General O'Brien.

It is expected that Secretary of War Alger will review the parade from a stand at the World Monument.

The column will move promptly at 10 o'clock, and the line of march will be down Madison avenue from Fort-street to Twenty-fifth street, thence to Fifth avenue, thence down Fifth avenue to Twenty-third street.

Several excursion boats will ply between New York and West Point this forenoon to carry visitors to the Military Academy, where the principal Decoration Day event in the vicinity of this city will take place.

The names of nearly 200 officers and more than 2,000 men appear on the base of the tall granite shaft.

Perhaps the most impressive ceremonies in New York to-day will be those at the tomb of General Grant.

At 10 o'clock, a national significance will be lent by the presence in the River of the United States battleship Indiana, from which a national salute of twenty-one guns will be fired.

The principal speaker of the day will be Bishop John P. Newmann, general Grant's old pastor in New York.

Among other graves and monuments to be decorated will be those of the Grand Army men in that of Colonel Van Hook.

Decorations Day is generally deemed an auspicious time for the dedication of churches and educational institutions.

The Sisters of the Divine Compassion have set out to-day for the consecration of their chapel at the Grand Central station.

DID NOT STAND THE TEST.

Secretary Long's Shot from a Twelve-Inch Gun Go Through Carnegie Armor Plate.

Washington, May 30.—Secretary of the Navy Long went to the Indian Head proving ground yesterday on the ordnance tug Triton.

The twelve-inch gun used in making the test was an initial velocity of 1,857 feet a second.

The Carnegie people claimed that their armor plate could easily stand this test, but the experiment proved the claim to be incorrect.
